

How to Have a Perfect Life

- Know how you measure success—
Start living your life by design.
- Abandon perfectionism—
Replace perfectionism with pride.
- Accept, then perfect, what isn't perfect—
Acceptance is the first step toward perfection.
- Enjoy an absence of personal problems—
Life's too short for problems of any kind—become a problem-free zone.
- Automate the business of your life—
Don't you have better things to do?
- Upgrade your personal and professional network—
People bring you the best opportunities in life.
- Seriously invest in a special skill set—
The more you can deliver, the more you can earn.
- Have whims worth following—
Perfection occurs as you respond to what tugs at you.
- Perfect your self-care—
A perfect life isn't sustainable without advanced self-care.
- Lighten your footprint—
Need less—be more.
- Evolve your sources of energy—
Design advanced sources of motivation.
- Raise your standards—reduce your expectations—
This raises you above the muck of life into the realm of the perfect.
